CHERAS - Jalan yang rosak semula selepas diturap di Jalan Sungai Long di sini masih dalam proses pembaikan.

Pegawai Perhubungan Awam, Unit Perancangan Korporat dan Perhubungan Awam Majlis Perbandaran Kajang, Kamarul Izlan Sulaiman berkata, struktur jalan itu rosak akibat hujan lebat kelmarin.

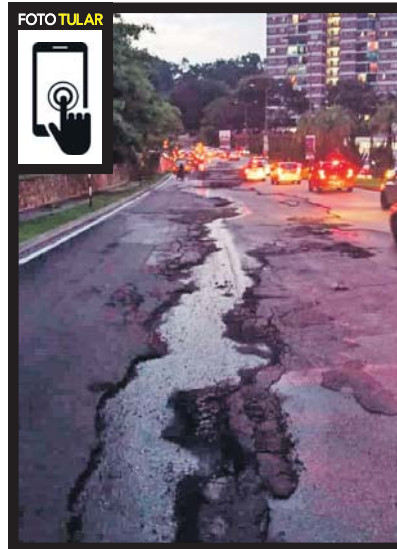

Menurutnya, sebaik menerima aduan kerja pembaikan laluan itu segera dilaksanakan.

“Kerja pembaikan sudah dilaksanakan, laluan itu sebenarnya masih lagi dalam proses turapan.

Terdahulu, tular rakaman video menunjukkan struktur ‘premix’ yang masih baru itu rosak dialirakan arus limpahan air hujan.

Dalam video berdurasi 35 saat itu memaparkan berlaku kesesakan jalan raya akibat pengguna mengelak melalui jalan itu.

'Banyak jalan tidak selamat'

Kerajaan negeri perlu tambah peruntukan turap jalan, atasi banjir kilat

NUR FARHANA ABDUL MANAN

SUBANG JAYA

Jalan raya berlubang, merekah dan tidak diturap lebih lima tahun antara isu yang perlu diberi keutamaan dalam pembentangan Belanjawan Selangor 2020 esok.

Pengerusi Persatuan Penduduk Islam USJ16-27, Amran Ahmad berkata, banyak jalan yang kini sudah tidak selamat dilalui pengguna jalan raya terutama pengguna motosikal. Menurutnya, kerajaan negeri perlu memperuntukkan lebih banyak dana bagi menampal atau menu-rap jalan-jalan tersebut untuk keselesaan pengguna.

"Harapan kami supaya kerajaan negeri kali ini beri lebih peruntukan untuk kerja pembaikan jalan dan infrastruktur termasuk di taman perumahan.

"Banyak jalan yang kini berlubang dan merekah malah keadaan lebih membimbangkan bila hujan apabila penunggang motosikal berisiko terlibat kemalangan," katanya kepada Sinar Harian di sini semalam.

Amran berkata, kerajaan negeri juga perlu memberi fokus kepada kerja naik taraf longkang di lokasi berisiko banjir.

Katanya, di kawasan Subang Jaya, sistem perparitan berusia puluhan tahun tidak mampu lagi menampung purata jumlah hujan ketika ini.

"Lihat sahaja di depan Ibu Pejabat Polis Daerah (IPD) Subang Jaya, bebera-pa kali berlaku banjir kilat menyebabkan banyak kenderaan yang sedang menunggu di lampu isyarat terkandas dan tenggelam.

"Peruntukan lebih perlu diberi untuk atasi banjir di kawasan 'hotspot' kerana masalah ini menyebabkan kerugian kepada pengguna dan menyusahkan mereka setiap kali hujan lebat," katanya.

Bagi aktivis masyarakat, Kuan Chee Heng, kerajaan negeri harus memberi peruntukan sewajarnya dalam penambahan lampu jalan di laluan awam berikutan banyak kemalangan berlaku bukan sahaja akibat jalan berlubang dan rosak malah keadaannya gelap.

"Saya minta kerajaan bukan sahaja tambah peruntukan untuk kos pembaikan jalan malah perlu beri keutamaan kemudahan papan isyarat jalan dan sebagainya.

"Keadaan jalan ketika ini teruk ditambah waktu hujan. Harap kerajaan pertimbangkan keperluan ini," katanya.

SHARP INCREASE IN FIGURES

Hulu Langat has seen a drastic spike in the number of dengue-related deaths this year

THE Hulu Langat district has the second highest number of dengue cases at 12,472 cases and 16 deaths up to Oct 16, putting Kajang Municipal Council (MPK) on high alert to tackle the disease.

Petaling district has the highest number of cases at 21,858 with 22 deaths.

MPKj president Datuk Rosli Othman said of the affected areas in Hulu Langat, 73 were in the municipality and nine hotspots had been identified in Kajang, Sungai Ramal, Balakong, Dusun Tua and Semenyih.

"We have 9,087 cases with 11 deaths recorded. In light of the severity of the situation, I urge the Resident Representative Council (MPP) together with the district Health Department to have more awareness campaigns. There must be more community clean-ups and enforcement," he said.

On whether stiffer penalties would be meted out to offenders whose premises were found with Aedes mosquito breeding spots, Rosli said it was crucial for all parties to work together instead of resorting to punitive measures.

With dengue cases on the rise, the rubbish issue has also become a bone of contention. To-date, MPKj's Solid Waste and Public Cleansing Management Department seized 13 lorries since Oct 22 for illegal dumping.

Rosli also urged members of the public to be mindful of where they dispose of bulk waste.

"We notice that bulk waste accumulates when people move house. This is when they throw out big items like cupboards, refrigerators and unwanted bed frames. I urge residents to dispose of their rubbish responsibly.

"They can call MPKj to find out which waste disposal contractors to get in touch with," said Rosli.

On the issue of pools of water accumulating on roads during heavy rain, Rosli said he would instruct the Engineering Department to visit the affected locations in Jalan Semenyih (in front of One Living electrical shop), Jalan Tun Abdul Aziz and Jalan Raja Haroun.

"We can find out the reason why water is stagnating on the roads. If we can prove that the contractors' work is flawed, then we will make them do the necessary rectifications," said Rosli.

He also addressed a complaint forwarded by MPKj councillor Edward So who brought up the presence of claw machine games at shoplots in the municipality.

Citing that claw machines could only be legally operated in shopping centres, So said it was unfair for one party to be given a business licence while others were denied due to a difference in location.

To this, Rosli said the council would consider whether licensing laws with regards to claw machines need to be reviewed.

"If there is an increase in the number of premises outside malls with claw machines, we will reconsider relooking at the licensing requirements," he said.

Shortcomings at new Selayang market to be rectified

By CHRISTINA LOW

THE Pasar Moden Selayang Baru building is not perfect and Selayang Municipal Council (MPS) president Shamsul Shahril Badliza Mohd Noor acknowledges it has many flaws.

"We have taken note of traders' complaints," he said, commenting on StarMetro's story yesterday at the council's full board meeting.

MPS is currently working on rectifying the various issues within the market, including installing additional plug points and putting up proper signage to indicate different sections in the market.

"As of now, the wet market area is a little messy and customers may not know where to get their goods as there is no signage to guide them. All these will be done soon," he said, adding that the market on Jalan 9 would be improved and set an example for other markets to follow.

When asked about complaints that only 297 traders were given lots in the building out of more than 400 traders, Shamsul said the numbers were inaccurate.

"Each trader gets one lot, they cannot come to us and claim that they previously had two lots.

"When we conducted the interview, only 307 traders turned up. So we selected 297 who were entitled for lots in the new market," he said.

Those who were not given a lot were given a place elsewhere but only a handful accepted MPS' offer, citing distance as an excuse.

"It is not that we don't want to give them a lot in the new building, some are illegal or foreign traders while others are selling products that are not suitable to be in a market," he said, adding that space was also limited at building.

As for the lift which had been vandalised, Shamsul said it was being repaired and expected to be in operation by January next year.

The new market building has 170 lots on the ground floor (for dry food and perishable items such as vegetables, meat and seafood) while clothes, home accessories and food stalls occupy the second floor.

The remaining floors are parking bays for customers and market traders.

During the meeting, Shamsul also informed the councilors that MPS had collected RM91.42mil out of RM103mil in assessment as of Sept 30 and another RM4.84mil in assessment arrears out of RM7mil.

JMB should carry out rectification works at Section 16 hillslope, says PJ mayor

A CHECK by Petaling Jaya City Council (MBPJ) reveals that the land affected by the soil erosion in Section 16 comes under the purview of the Phileo Damansara II management.

Petaling Jaya mayor Datuk Mohd Sayuthi Bakar said the Joint Management Body (JMB) of the Phileo Damansara II has to carry out rectification works.

“The city council officers inspected the site. They discovered that a tree was chopped off at the site where the erosion happened.

“When the tree was removed, the area was exposed and it could have contributed to the erosion.

“Yesterday, the city council issued a notice to the Phileo Damansara JMB to carry out rectification works at the affected site,” said

Mohd Sayuthi.

In the past week, the hillslope on the privately owned land facing Menara Star in Phileo Damansara II has been affected by soil erosion.

It was reported that workers in the commercial area were worried for their safety as the landslide was left unattended.

The landslide caused soil at the affected area to be exposed to the elements.

In a previous report, a Section 16 resident said she saw several MBPJ officers inspecting the site using a drone last week.

“The landslide happened at the back portion of a vacant bungalow,” she said.

It was reported that soil erosion was seen behind a house in Jalan 16/9 and worsened over the following days because of heavy rain.
